

DIPLOMA IN TRAINING & DEVELOPMENT

Course Description

The Diploma in Training and Development has been developed for people wishing to deliver effective training programmes and provides the ability to follow one of almost 30 subject area streams, including health and safety titles, customer service, sales, every child matters titles and disability awareness.

Whether you are new to the industry, have previous experience or maybe even considering setting up your own business offering training solutions, you will find this course both beneficial and rewarding.

It has been designed to facilitate self directed study of the underpinning knowledge required to deliver effective training programmes and is a good foundation for those people wishing to progress to higher level qualifications in the disciplines of teaching and education. Indeed, the course syllabus has been prepared to complement and underpin the new qualifications within the Teacher

Qualifications Framework and in particular PTLLS – Preparing to Teach in the Lifelong Learning Sector, which is a mandatory unit CTLLS - Certificate in Teaching in the Lifelong Learning Sector .

The programme covers five topic areas which you will work through independently via self-directed study, with the support of a tutor and/or mentor.

This programme provides the knowledge that will enable you to understand your own role and responsibilities, recognise different learning styles and adapting your training accordingly, plan and prepare to deliver effective training, understand the importance of effective communication and check that your training has been effective.

To gain your Diploma you will need to complete a final practical assignment which is to prepare and deliver training programmes (using your chosen seminar resource) on two separate occasions to a minimum group size of six attendees. Your groups may include work colleagues, friends, family, Private Clubs, Associations, Charities etc. Your chosen Seminar programme is included within this package and selected from the list below. When selecting your chosen Seminar Title, you can be assured that you will receive all the necessary tools required to deliver an effective training session.
